"From Dairy Farms to Gravel Mines"

Belanger writes book about area's Hungarian immigrants

Years ago, Betty Bodnar Belanger became interested in the history of her ancestors and their fellow Hungarian immigrants who settled in the rocky hills of what is now northern Elk River and southern Livonia Township.

There they established the only known Hungarian dairy farming settlement in the nation, and created a lasting legacy.

Today Belanger is the author of a new book about those immigrants called "From Dairy Farms to Gravel Mines: A History of Sherburne County's Hungarian Community." (Source: www.estarnews.com)

Member Spotlights

Dr.Koerner-Vajna Reka

Dr. Reka Koerner-Vajna was born and grew up in Sepsiszentgyorgy, Transylvania. After graduating from high school, Szekely Miko Kollegium, Reka fulfilled her lifelong dream of becoming a dentist by beginning to study dentistry at the Medical University of Tirgu Mures (Marosvasarhely). In her third year she was able to transfer to the renowned Semmelweis University in Budapest, Hungary's oldest medical school, where she received her Doctor of Dental Surgery degree in 1998 and enrolled in a Ph.D. program in immunology. In 1999 she came to the University of Minnesota to study oral biology and to participate in the graduate residency in general dentistry program at the Dental School. In 2004, she received her dental license for Minnesota and started work as a family dentist in Monticello, Minn. In February 2010, she moved to a Downtown Minneapolis practice.
